

Burkland Celebrates 500 Clients with Near Space Labs

12/1/2021

SAN FRANCISCO--Burkland, a full-service fractional CFO, HR, accounting, and tax provider, today announces a major milestone. With the addition of Near Space Labs as a valued client, Burkland now serves 500 startups and counting.

“Near Space Labs is focused on rethinking geospatial imaging and democratizing that intelligence,” said Rema Matevosyan, CEO at Near Space Labs. “Our team’s mission is to get geospatial imagery into more hands than ever, so that an entirely new generation of researchers and planners can easily gain access to a new view of the world. Our drive toward faster aerospace innovation and continued growth is made possible through support from organizations like Burkland.”

Services such as CFO support, bookkeeping, and People Operations compliance help founders focus on launching a product and building a business. Setting up financial systems correctly at the beginning positions startups for success. A strong foundation to support scalability is critical for companies looking to avoid common pain points, as these grow.

“Burkland is dedicated to helping startups develop systems that scale with their business and adapt to the market,” said Jeff Burkland, Founder & CEO of Burkland. “Startups face a number of challenges, including fundraising, revenue recognition, financial modeling, and planning for growth. Burkland is committed to supporting entrepreneurs with fractional professionals that can help them see around corners.”

Burkland works with venture-backed startups across a broad spectrum of industries, including SaaS, Consumer, and Fintech.

About Near Space Labs

Near Space Labs is a cutting-edge geospatial intelligence company on a mission to democratize access to Earth imaging. Co-Founded by CEO Rema Matevosyan, CTO Dr. Ignasi Lluch, and Chief Engineer Dr. Albert Caubet, Near Space provides timely, wide-scale, commercially available imagery with the largest zero-emission balloon fleet in the stratosphere. Near Space Labs is revolutionizing the way that businesses, communities, municipalities and researchers gather data that can help solve some of the world’s biggest problems.
